Jesus

I wish to tell the world about my love. Dearest children of God, you will be welcome in Heaven. You have a family here who prepares for your arrival. Each person on Earth is steadily making progress in their earthly journey, meaning, you are steadily approaching the end of your life, even if you will live to a very old age. If we begin with that thought, my next thought will make even more sense to you: I wish you to consider what you will bring to me when I come for you. Will you bring me kindness to others? Will you bring me service to your family? Will you bring me a duty fulfilled in obedience and dignity? You see, my friends, I will not ask you for your material possessions because they will have no value here, unless you used these possessions to help others. Only then can material possessions acquire heavenly value. I have placed you in the world to serve. I am with you in each day but you must also try to be with me. Dearest children, ask me for guidance and I will tell you how I wish you to serve.
