Jesus

Be at peace, little children of God. I am with you. Do not think you are orphans, abandoned to a world which lacks God's love. I seek to bring love into the world in a continuous stream. How my apostles delight me with their willingness to allow me to use them for this purpose. I work without pause in each person who welcomes me. You may be asleep, or resting another way, and I am busy at work in your soul, preparing great gifts for your brothers and sisters who do not know me. I am tireless. I am determined. I am forming many saints who will move up the mountain of holiness with speed in order to serve me more completely. Do you wish to be one of these saints? Of course you do. We will work together to move you more fully into my will. How I guard my apostles. How I surround them with protection. I watch your life closely so that every experience you have will benefit your soul. My little ones experience pain and carry wounds. This should not frighten you. I do not judge you for your pain. I look at your pain and remember my own pain and I am compassionate. Your pain will not separate you from me. Again I say, have no fear. I am working in your soul to bring my Kingdom to Earth through you. I will see to everything. Trust me and you will be at peace.
