Jesus

A deep peace settles upon those who serve me, their Lord. This interior peace, Heaven's presence, connects each apostle to me, their Savior. I work in each soul without interruption if I am welcome. Around the apostle, circumstances change. Others come and go in their life and perhaps there is suffering or persecution. My presence remains a constant, though, comforting, consoling, and directing. The connection between Heaven and each apostolic servant is the avenue through which I return to the world. How Heaven delights in each commitment. During this time many look to me, their Savior and know that I am calling out to them. Each apostle hears my call. You have heard my call. Consider how I am asking you to serve today. Dearest apostle, I must insist that you spend time in silence contemplating my will. I must insist upon this because I require your service in whatever way I have willed for you during this time. If you give me your full attention for a period of time each day, I can instruct you and prompt you. Also, I can give you a very important heavenly attribute and that is peace. I need you to possess my peace. You must possess this for your own comfort, of course, but you must also possess peace so that it flows through you into the world. The world does not have peace. My peace has been rejected. You, my beloved apostles, reject the world's discord and accept my peace. That is why you are so important to me. You feel my presence, do you not? Truly, I am with you. Dear apostle, I want to be with everyone in this way. Will you help me? I know that you will. Spend time with me in silence each day and I will provide you with everything you need and everything the world requires.
